

December 2017

Greetings from Snowflake Rescue,

We hope this letter finds you winding down for some relaxing time with family and friends. Our Snowflake family is looking forward to the same. We've been busy trying to keep up with the Tarheel kittens--Isaiah, Kennedy, Joel, Justine, Seventh, Theo and Mother Maye. They were just as active and athletic as their Carolina basketball namesakes. Regardless of your college basketball team preference, we can all agree that these are true champions because they all found their forever home!

Don't forget our older crew: Priss with diabetes, Freddie and Buddy with kidney failure, Snowman - an autoimmune disorder, Tango and Waltz - cardiomyopathy, and Tequila still doing well after a cancer diagnosis. And then there's Shirley, who has a serious case of being adorable:

We have also been able to help people in the community with spay/neuter assistance and vet care for strays that were not able to be accepted into a rescue group due to space limitations. This ranged from respiratory infections to fractures from being hit by a car. We're proud that we were able to provide assistance to those who had no other options available.

Diane adopted Snowman but he was not a good match for her current kitty, so he is back at Snowflake and she now sponsors his care. Jenn and Richard moved to Texas and took their special needs fosters with them and continue to care for them. Some volunteers care for feral cat colonies. We have wonderful vets who take great care of our animals. It takes a village to help our furry friends. Everyone has something to contribute, whether it's adopting, volunteering, sponsoring, donating or fostering. Our animal friends need all of us. Please consider a tax-deductible donation to Snowflake - your support allows us to continue this vital mission. We could not accomplish our mission without the generous donations that you so graciously give every year. We are all volunteer and 100% of your donation goes directly to the animals. Visit our website at www.snowflakerescue.org to see how you can help.

We hope you have a wonderful Holiday season and a Happy New Year!
